

DIVERSITY In Environmental Law Panel

Minority attorneys have traditionally been underrepresented in the field of environmental law. Join a panel of respected environmental practitioners and experts from private, in-house, nonprofit, and government environmental law practices for a discussion on how to make environmental law and lawyering more diverse. Panelists will also provide students an introduction to the dynamic field of environmental law, discuss current topics such as environmental justice, and help students explore potential career paths.

Co-sponsors: UCI, Whittier, Chapman, Western State.
