Virtual Programming: Setting You Up for Success!
Here. There. Anywhere.

Below are a few best practices and helpful information to set you up for success with our upcoming ASW virtual programming:

- Register in advance once for access to all ASW programming. In order to protect our whole community from zoom bombing, we will only be sending platform information to registrants.
- Add email addresses from "@uci.edu" or @law.uci.edu" to your safe senders so important emails don’t end up in your spam or junk folders.
- When signing into virtual programming sessions, use your preferred first name and last name, not a nickname or a set of numbers/letters. Add your pronouns.
- While sharing is usually a sign of caring, please don’t share links with folks. If you have friends that were also admitted to UCI Law, we sent them the same invitation. If you have friends on our waitlist, don’t worry...should they be admitted later, they’ll get access to important information. The only exception to forwarding is passing along the link to the Co-Decision Makers session.
- Make sure you have the latest Zoom app downloaded (Zoom.us menu > Check for updates)
- Find a quiet location with stable Wi-Fi signal to join your sessions. Test your connections.
- If able, use a headset or earbuds. Mute your audio unless you are speaking.
- We intend to record as many of the substantive sessions as possible but ultimately, presenters or panelists must grant us permission. Therefore, do your best to attend as many live sessions as possible.
- Share video when you can, especially at the start of sessions. While some of our panelists are seasoned pros at speaking, it’s always nice to start off a session to a room of friendly and welcoming faces!
